To whom it may concern,

This is to confirm that Well Force International and DRILLING SERVICES BULGARIA OOD have conducted business in the Mineral Exploration sector since 2006, and subsequently with Drillex International and International Drilling Services.

The primary focus has been on Well Force International supplying different types of Core Orientation tools, Survey Cameras, training and support to Drillex International and its clients.

Drillex International have also shown a keen interest in ensuring their clients receive the best possible service. This has been by way of assisting Well Force International to setup service workshops on their premises to ensure that on-site service can take place if required.

During the course of business, Drillex International's staff have used the supplied equipment to a very high standard and delivered repeatable Core Orientations and consistent surveys. Drillex International has always ensured that its staff understand the importance of Core Orientation, which has led to the high quality of results and participation of all during training.

Drillex International staff have been trained in the use of the following down-hole tools by Well Force International:
